A University education is a varied and richly rewarding experience. Of course, the academic courses that attracted you to Concordia are important. It is in their classrooms, laboratories and studios that you have begun to acquire the knowledge and skills which will lead to successful careers in our increasingly knowledge based economy.

But the Concordia experience comprises much more. There is the interaction with students and professors of different ages, languages, religions and ethnic backgrounds. There is the challenge of student activities — athletic, cultural, political and social. There is — and perhaps most important — the opportunity to come to know oneself, to feel one's strength and potential, to strive toward personal self realization.

It has been our task as professors, support staff and administrators to create a learning and interactive environment that makes this possible. I hope we have succeeded in this.

As you receive your degrees, certificates and diplomas, you join a family of 100,000 Concordia alumnae and alumni throughout the world. It is a family to be proud of.

Historical Background

Concordia University:
From Past to Present

Concordia is not as well known outside of Canada as older schools such as McGill and Queen's. What many people don't realize is that Concordia as we know it today is the result of the 1974 merging of Loyola College and Sir George Williams University.

About Loyola

Having grown out of the English program at College Sainte-Marie, Loyola College became its own school in 1896. Starting at the corner of Bleury and Sainte-Catherine Street, it later settled in NDG on the site now known as the Loyola campus. A Jesuit school for men which began in the classic tradition, it eventually leaned towards the Liberal Arts. The all-male campus first became co-ed in the fall of '59, when the first two female students were admitted. In August of '74 it united with Sir George to become Concordia.

Introducing Sir George

Before becoming known as Sir George Williams College and Schools in 1926, classes began in the YMCA in 1873-74. The school was especially convenient for those who worked full-time or had families and could only attend night classes. With downtown Montreal as its campus, Sir George's urban, open atmosphere made it unique. This unique spirit is still present in the Concordia of today. Ironically, the new name derived from Montreal's motto, "Concordia Salus."

Since Then:

The students and staff who made up the two schools were a part of every change of the twentieth century, from the first two world wars to the radical student demonstrations of the 60's and early 70's. Today, Concordia continues to be a thriving school with a vast range of opportunities. It boasts over 20,000 full-time students, two campuses and four faculties. Concordia has a favourable reputation in many programs such as commerce, engineering, communication studies and the fine arts. Some of the above items are reasons countless students, faculty and staff can boast of "Stinger Pride."

Dear Member of the Class of 1999:

You are now a graduate of Concordia University, and you have every reason to be proud of your success. Congratulations on this accomplishment!

While you will certainly have some very fond memories of your time at the University, there is a great deal that you will also undoubtedly miss. This yearbook — your yearbook — is designed to help you remember what made Concordia so special while you were here. It is a treasured memento of your graduation year, and of those who shared it with you. Open its pages five, ten, twenty years from now, and you will encounter a very different you. Your yearbook offers a stroll down memory lane, a glimpse of the person you once were.

Concordia graduates are found in every corner of the world. You now join their ranks as an active alumnus or alumna. We hope that you will each carry with you the values and aspirations of your alma mater, and that you will remember us and your fellow classmates fondly in the years to come. I wish each of you the very best for a happy and successful career in your chosen field. Concordia salus!

Matti Terho, Chaplain, Campus Ministry, retires after 25 years

Matti Terho was a Chaplain at Sir George Williams University and then at the Sir George Williams campus of Concordia University. As a minister to the entire community, he got to know many people; being with them at some of life's most joyous moments as well as at times of grief, loss and crisis.

Matti is also known to many people for his love of sports. He is an avid cross-country skier, a runner, a golfer, plays volleyball ... and much more. He was one of the Chaplains at the 1976 Olympics held in Montreal.

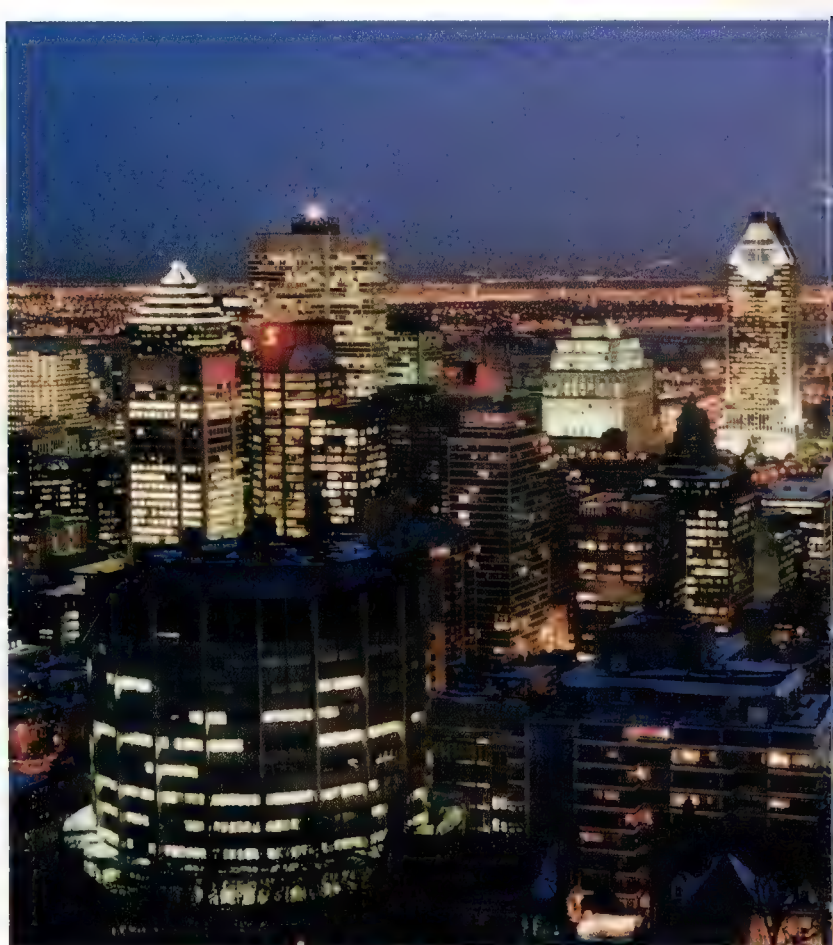

Another "field" he has cultivated is Jewish-Christian dialogue. Currently president of the association, Matti has been one of its active members for many years.

There are many people at Concordia for whom Matti has made a difference, and we know he will be missed.

The year
IN reView

April 30, Charest

Jean Charest becomes the leader of the Quebec Liberal Party. In his acceptance speech, Charest promises to improve relations with the rest of Canada.

May-June, Municipal Elections

Even with election day six months away, campaigning is in full swing. The spring phase of the municipal campaign focuses on style rather than content. With little talk of economic re-building, the campaign is turning into a personality contest between the three leading candidates: Pierre Bourque, Jean Doré and Jacques Duchesneau.

Mid May, Good-Bye Seinfeld

Montrealers gather in local bars to watch the final episode of Seinfeld. All three of Montreal's Cheers bars are packed with eager viewers who came to say good-bye to America's most popular sitcom.

End of May, Johnson Wins!

Former newspaper columnist William Johnson is voted in as president of Alliance Quebec. Despite his reputation as an outspoken, hard-liner, Johnson is chosen to lead this Anglophone Lobby group.

End of May, Tour de L'Ile

Under stormy skies, about 2,000 Montrealers participate in the 14th annual Tour de L'Ile. Wind chills are so high that 170 cyclists are treated for hypothermia.

May-June, Casino

The Montreal casino closed its doors indefinitely. The lockout was the result of a contract dispute with casino workers. The 1,800 casino workers will meet to decide whether to strike.

June 9, Accueil Bonneau

An explosion at the Accueil Bonneau kills three people and injures 17. The explosion was set off by a contractor's drill when it hit a gas line. The three victims were volunteers at the soup kitchen.

June 14, School Board Elections

Voters turn up in record numbers (40% from anglophone community) to choose who will run Quebec's first anglophone and francophone school commissions. The commissions are to replace the old school board system which was set up along religious lines.

June 24, Pie in the Face

While participating in the St-Jean-Baptiste parade, Alliance Quebec leader Bill Johnson gets a pie in the face. Afterwards, Johnson was escorted away by MUC police, his presence having caused a disturbance in the crowd.

July 24, Bourque

Mayor Bourque spends the night with a family in Côte-des-Neiges. Bourque was invited to stay by six year old Mohammed Shaeek when the mayor visited the neighborhood the week before. Residents are hoping the stay will convince the mayor to help the community improve living conditions in the area.

August 2, Gay Pride

400,000 people come out for the Gay Pride parade. People descended on St-Denis to wrap up the 6th annual Divers/Cite gay pride celebrations. With such a huge turnout, organizers predict they will have to change the route next year.

Early-August, Micmac

Bouchard announces a tentative agreement with Micmacs in Gaspé. Micmac leaders have been blocking highway 132 since July 16. They are protesting over logging rights in the area.

August 6, Monica Lewinsky

Monica Lewinsky begins testimony to grand jury over allegations she had sexual relations with the President of the United States.

TIMELINE

August 20, Historic Decision

A Supreme Court ruling on secession says Quebec cannot declare independence unilaterally. But, Quebec can negotiate a split with Canada if a clear majority votes yes in answering a clear question on secession.

September 2, Swissair crash

Swissair plane crashes just off the Atlantic coast at Peggy's Cove. All 229 passengers and crew perish.

September 11, Clinton Scandal

Independent counsel Kenneth Star brings forward recommendations to impeach the president; citing 11 charges against Clinton.

September 21, Green Onions

Eighty-five city traffic employees are suspended after they are suspected of being involved in a parking sticker scam.

September 26, MSO Strike

Montreal Symphony Orchestra musicians call a strike.

September 29, Saving Expos

Members of Montreal's business community offer to buy part of the Expos. The team desperately needs a new stadium.

October 5, Impeachment

U.S. Congress takes first step toward impeaching Bill Clinton.

October 23, Superhospital

It is announced that Montreal's super-hospital will be built on the former CP Rail site, known as Glen Yards. The hospital is expected to be completed in 2004.

October 24, Peace Deal

Middle East summit ends with a peace deal between Israelis and Palestinians.

November 1, Bourque Wins

Pierre Bourque wins the municipal election with a landslide victory.

November 13, Michel Trudeau

Pierre Trudeau and Margaret Kemper's youngest son, dies tragically when an avalanche pushes him into a lake in B.C. Michel was 23.

November 30, PQ Wins

Lucien Bouchard's PQ party wins the provincial election with a majority in the National Assembly. However, the PQ does not get the popular vote they were hoping for.

The U.S. House of Representatives votes to impeach Bill Clinton.

December 20

Clinton calls off bombing of Iraq.

December 31, Avalanche

Kills nine people in remote northern Quebec town of Kangisualuuaq. The avalanche swept through a school gym during a New Year's eve celebration.

January 7, Senate trial

President Bill Clinton opens. Clinton is being impeached after he lied about his relationship with former intern Monica Lewinsky.

January 15

Justice Duncan Shaw of B.C. Supreme Court rules that the law against possessing child pornography violates a person's freedom of expression. This ruling strikes a heated debate about the right to possess child pornography.

January 20, Big O

A rip in the roof of the Olympic stadium forces it to close.

January 24

The Quebec government says it will set up a civilian body to monitor the Sûreté du Québec. The government feels the police force needs supervision because it is unorganized and it routinely breaks the law during criminal investigations.

February 13, President Clinton

Is acquitted ending a long and grueling impeachment trial, which included the President being forced to provide intimate details of his love affair with Lewinsky.

February 20, Nato

Says it's prepared to bomb Serbia if peace talks fail.

February 21, Peace Talks

Kosovo peace talks are extended. Nato puts off air strikes.

February 22, Unite the Right

A collection of Reformers, Tories and other anti-Liberals approve the creation of a new national conservative party during a weekend-long conference.

February 26, No Means No

In a landmark case, the Supreme Court of Canada ruled that no means no in overturning an Alberta court appeal finding that a young woman implied consent, even though she said no three times.

February 27, Justices Battle

Judge McLung, an Alberta judge, attacks Supreme Court Justice Claire L'Heureux Dube saying that her 'personal convictions' are responsible for the high rate of male suicide in Quebec. Judge McLung was responsible for acquitting an Edmonton man in the sexual assault case that was overturned by the Supreme Court.

February 28, Judge McLung

Attacks the victim of the sexual assault case. In an interview with the National Post, McLung says: the victim "was not lost on her way home from the nunnery."

March 4

In a two-hour interview with ABC's Barbara Walters, Monica Lewinsky gives her side of the story talking about her feelings for Clinton, her thoughts of suicide, and another love affair.

March 24, Nato

Begins bombing Yugoslavia after peace talks fail. The air strikes begin by targeting Serbian military operations.

March 30

Thousands of refugees stream out of Kosovo, and allies threaten Milosevic with prosecution by International War Crimes Tribunal.

March 31

Milosevic says no peace talks until bombing stops.

April 1

Nunavut becomes Canada's third territory.

April 9

Almost 44,000 Expos fans show up to opening game.

On this day, there is some fear that Yugoslavia is halting the exodus of Kosovo-Albanian refugees in order to use them as a human shield against Nato air strikes.

April 13

The Quebec government appoints the first black judge in the province's history; her name is Junita Westmoreland-Traore.

April 15

FACULTY AND

STAFF.

Arts & Science

You know, faculty and staff members, you're part of a particular group of people at Concordia when you:

- 1 — Set up office hours as required but hardly anyone shows up
- 2 — Go through the strain of writing countless papers and exams as a student, only to come back as a prof so you can correct a countless amount of them each semester.
- 3 — Set deadlines for forms and applications and still have people filing in a week late as if you have all year to wait for them.
- 4 — Are hassled for giving too many A's and then hassled again for not giving enough.
- 5 — Write recommendations for students you wouldn't hire if your life depended on it, because you don't want to be bothered with the consequences of saying "no."
- 6 — Get all passionate about a lecture you're giving that took a lot of work to prepare, only to notice half of the third row nodding off.
- 7 — And finally: Give a whole lot of time and energy in the form of teaching, guiding and administrating and countless other jobs to make Concordia a school to brag about.

For all this we say, plainly and simply, T-H-A-N-K-Y-O-U!!

Smiling below: Anne-Marie Leger (VP INTERNAL), David Smaller (PRESIDENT), Laura Levesque (VP FINANCE).

The past year has been an exciting one at the Concordia Student Union. This year we changed the way things are done around here. In a year that started with an Orientation Week that was the talk of the town (our concerts were front-page news!), we revived the hive, we rejuvenated the Mezz Café, and we had the first debt-free year in living memory (ok, admittedly a dubious distinction). I'm sure that at least a few of your own personal highlights from your time at Concordia were made possible by the CSU. The departmental wine and cheeses, the clubs and associations and all the hard work they do, Reggie's, and all the various CSU service (handbook, free phones, job and housing, Loyola computer lab . . .) make up just a portion what is the CSU.

We also fought hard for the rights of students and for the right of all to an accessible, high quality education. Something that we, as graduates, should not forget as we go on in life with all the benefits of being a Concordia Alumni. Along with funding cuts and increased tuition, more and more potential Alumni will never realize that potential. Never forget what Concordia has done for you — and remember that before too long you might be asked to return the favor in one way or another.

Thanks for making my time at Concordia an experience that will be with me forever! I wish the entire class of '99 (of which I, too, am a part) success in the years to come.

CONCORDIA WRITERS GROUP

Writing is a lonely business. You don't do it as part of a committee or you foul it up. What writers can do is get together for feedback: this is the aim of the Concordia Writers Group. We meet weekly, at times convenient to the students' schedules, and discuss each others' works. These may be stories, poems or plays, or even letters, term papers, essays and reports.

CONCORDIA CLASSICS STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

The CCSA was founded over twenty years ago. Its function is to represent the students of the Classics department at Concordia, as well as enrich their academic and social life. It accomplishes this by organizing events and fund raisers for the benefit of the CCSA members. Student input is vital to the Association, so you are encouraged to get involved to ensure its success!

GRADUATE HISTORY STUDENT ASSOCIATION

Drafting a constitution, holding fund raisers, establishing a library and doing all sorts of other fun stuff are not just a few of our favorite things. They are the objectives which have finally set this year's GHSA firmly on the path to world domination. Empowered by its mottos "The Meek Shall Inherit Nothing" and "History Rules, Dude!", the Executive Council and its Legions have harnessed the Power of Rock & Roll to, well, take over. H mecoming '98

Last week, hundreds of alumni from across the country came home to a university that was at once eye-opening and familiar. They rekindled memories and friendships, and took part in lectures, tributes, open houses, vernissages, and fundraising opportunities organized by the Alumni Office. They also helped launch the Alumni and Friends Division of the Campaign for a New Millennium. The Campaign, which has already raised more than $45 million, is gearing up to contact more than 60,000 former students during the next nine months. Reunion attendees and Campaign volunteers turned out for many of the Homecoming events, from the lecture by economic journalist Diane Francis to the family skate at the Molson Centre. They walked away with the feeling that Concordia is a dynamic university, held in high regard by its graduates.

Rectors Reunion dinner afforded alumni the opportunity to reunite and reminisce with former classmates and friends at a dinner honouring classes celebrating their 25th, 30th, 35th, 40th, 45th, 50th, 55th and 60th anniversaries. The host of the evening was the Rector, Dr. Lowy.

MEN'S SOCCER

The men's soccer team had one of its strongest seasons in recent memory. The team's top notch defensive play earned them the regular season QSSF championship. Concordia won its semifinal game 1-0 over Sherbrooke thanks to an overtime goal from Steven Cesari. The team was one step away from going to the national championship when it altered, losing the Quebec championship 3-2 in a shoot-out.

Goalkeeper Valdis Tomsons was named MVP of the QSSF conference and recognized as a first team All-Canadian. In eight regular-season games, Tomsons collected six shutouts and gave up just four goals. Forward Ammar Awad was a second team All-Canadian.

In his ninth season at the helm of the Stingers, head coach Vladimir Pavlicik was named QSSF and CIAU Coach of the Year. Forward Ammar Awad, defender Scott Patterson and sweeper Frank Pons were also named to the QSSF first all-star team.

Women's Basketball

The women's basketball team made it to the CIAU National tournament this year. The Vikings, who finished with a 15-5 record and a first place finish for the third consecutive season, lost 67-62 in the consolation game to reach the University of Regina. Head coach Keith Pruden was named the league's coach of the year, co-captain Carol Anne Tull was all-star player of the year and a second team All-Canadian. Despite the team's young stature, QSSF Coach of the Year John Dore led the team to a 23-7 win-loss record and a top ten CIAU ranking throughout the season. The team was eliminated by last year's national champions, the Bishop Gaiters, in the QSSF semifinal. Jay Prosper was named the league's player of the year for the second consecutive season, averaging 18.6 points and 10.6 rebounds a game. Eric Zulu was selected as the league's rookie of the year.

This developing sport for the Stingers is attracting more and more student-athletes all the time. This year the Concordia contingent made strides once again. In the provincial championship, with a time of 36.13 Andrew McClory finished 16th in the men's 10-kilometre race. On the women's side, Jennifer Casimir finished 13th with a time of 27.33 and Cyrena Matheson finished 17th with a time of 28.20 in the women's five-kilometre event.

EVENTS

concordia university

This year the Concordia Shuffle raised more than $62,063, thanks to innumerable people, from Board of Governors member Rick Renaud to 19 Shuffle Committee members, 35 volunteers and all the walkers and their family, friends and colleagues who pledged to support them.

Nearly 500 Concordians walked the 6.5 kilometre walk on September 25th, from the new green space at de Maisonneuve Blvd and Guy St. to the Loyola Campus, and they had great weather for it! Media personalities Rosey Edeh and Leslie Roberts helped warm up the shufflers at the start of the walk and Mix 96's John Moore added the right amount of wackiness as the M.C. of the festivities at the Loyola Campus. Food, drink, music, prizes all awaited the shufflers as they crossed the finish line! A great time was enjoyed by all.

Students Rally

Campus Activism took a creative turn during the 1998/99 academic year. This year, rather than simply placards and chants, Concordia student brought out face paint, drums, costumes, stilts, music, parade-style-floats, and tonnes of great spirit to get their message across. This passionately charged carnival took place March 31. And what an important message it had — in the three years culminating with this academic year Concordia University alone lost 25 million dollars from its operating budget. The fight to maintain quality post-secondary education is an important one!

15TH ANNUAL BRIDGE BUILDING COMPETITION FRIDAY, MARCH 5

Twenty-eight teams consisting of 120 engineering students from Canada and the U.S.A. invaded the Sir George Williams campus for this year's competition. Using only popsicle sticks, wooden toothpicks, white glue and floss, the competitors spent the day constructing their bridges. After being displayed and judged, they were weighed-in then tested in "The Crusher" to see how much pressure they could take. As always, it was a popular event that has become a welcome tradition!

The Nightingale

The Concordia Theatre Department's second show of the 1998-99 season was "The Nightingale" by Hans Christian Andersen. This fairy tale, adapted for the stage by John Lazarus with original music by John Roby, was presented at the D.B. Clarke Theatre in December '98. Directed by Elsa Bolam, this magical tale was brought to life by students from the Professional Theatre programme and was enhanced by stunning costumes and an evocative setting.

Swirsky, Bromfield named Athletes of the Year

Corinne Swirsky, a highly-skilled centre with the women's hockey team, and Dwayne Bromfield, the All-Canadian linebacker, were named Concordia University's Athletes of the Year at an awards banquet held at Buffet Crystal in St. Laurent.

Swirsky, a fourth-year left wing, was the leading scorer on the women's hockey team with 42 goals and 33 assists for 75 points in 35 games. She helped lead the Stingers to a gold medal at the CIAU Women's Ice Hockey Championship. She was leading scorer in the tournament. She was also named the outstanding women's university hockey player in Canada and a CIAU All-Canadian. She has a bright future ahead of her as both a Stinger and one day as a member of Canada's national program.

Bromfield, a captain with the football team, has had an exceptional senior campaign. He was an O-QIFC all-star, an All-Canadian and a finalist for the President's Trophy as the outstanding defensive player in CIAU football. His play and leadership were instrumental in helping the Stingers make it to the Vanier Cup final. He is also a student representative on the Concordia Recreation and Athletics Board.

Other major award winners include: Sylvain Girard, football, Fittest Male Athlete; Lisa-Marie Breton, women's hockey, Fittest Female Athlete; Jay Prosper, basketball, Ron Lapointe Award for leadership, dedication and commitment to excellence; Kari Colpitts, hockey, Denise Beaudet Award for leadership, unselfishness and commitment to excellence; Eric Zulu, basketball, Male Rookie of the Year; Marie-Pier Veilleux, basketball, Laurie Brodrick Award for Female Rookie of the Year.

The Male and Female Academic Athlete of the Year Awards went to Vince Labossière, a Exercise Science student who plays hockey, and Catherine Bertrand, a Exercise Science major and member of the women's hockey team.

The team MVPs are: Jay Prosper, men's basketball; Andrew McClory, cross-country; Dwayne Bromfield, football; Alex Charette, men's hockey; Paul Mysak, men's rugby; Ammar Awad and Valdis Tomsons, men's soccer; Headley Bent, men's track; Kaha Verkviachvilli, men's wrestling; Marie-Hélène Héroux, women's basketball; Jennifer Casimir, cross-country; Corinne Swirsky, women's hockey; Erin Dance, women's rugby; Cheryl Hutton, women's soccer; and Swanne Gordon, track.

FEMALE ATHLETE OF THE YEAR, Corinne Swirsky

HARRY ZARINS AND PAT SHEAHAN, Plaque honoring Pat's 50th career coaching victory on October 10, 1998

LES LAWTON AND HARRY ZARINS, Plaque honoring Les's 400th coaching victory on January 17, 1999

MERIT AWARD WINNERS: SYLVAIN GIRARD — Football, ANDREW ADAMS — Soccer, MONIKA CONWAY — Basketball, EIRA HEANLY — Basketball, ALISON DELA — Rugby, F. MARIE-HELENE HEROUX — Basketball, DAVE MILLER JOHNSON — Football, ALEXEI NEMTCHINOV — Basketball, ALEX SMITH — Football, JIM WOOD — Football

The annual CCSL Awards, hosted by the Dean of Students, Dr. Donald Boisvert, was held on April 9th in the SGW Faculty Club.

The presentation of the Concordia Council on Student Life Awards are always a heartwarming event. Students stand with a smattering of professors, staff and family. They applaud, cheer, and occasionally tear up a little as they hear about unusual efforts to help out, to bring a little fun into the educational grind, or to inspire others to find the best in themselves.

This year was no exception, as 20 awards were handed out at a reception in the downtown Faculty and Staff Lounge. Here are the winners:

Award of Merit, for outstanding contributions to student life and services

The women's ice hockey team, who won the first national championship last year and went on to repeat their triumph this year. Accepting for the team, Anne Rodrigue and Karen Kendall said that playing hockey is "a great way to improve yourself as a person" and it was an honour to represent Concordia.

Tiffany Ryan, a Sociology student who is involved in many student groups and, according to outgoing Concordia Student Union (CSU) president David Smaller, gives "the best wine and cheese parties at the University." Tiffany was so popular that she got her own fan chant, which covered her in modest confusion.

Frederick Storn, who works at the Vanier Library, but has also thrown himself into efforts to revitalize the Loyola Campus, by becoming unpaid booking agent and publicist for the revived Hive reception space.

Patrick Sheahan, longtime, much-honoured Stingers men's football coach, who has given himself an off-season career, running the popular Concordia Summer Day Camp every summer — quite a feat, as Athletics Director Harry Zarins commented, without an on-site swimming pool.

Biology Professor and Acting Director of Ecotoxicology Paul Albert, who has made extraordinary personal efforts to enable one talented student to use his laboratory. "He is convinced that he has done nothing," said Maria Theresa Zenteno, of the Office for Disabled Students. "but we are convinced that he has translated the word 'accessibility' into concrete terms." The modest professor responded, "We derive pleasure from helping students. That's not work."

Media Award

Tekunbo Ojo, for his unquenchable enthusiasm and involvement in the student media.

Patrick Morrell, features editor of The Concordian, and "the man who always carries a notepad."

Michael de Souza, news editor of The Concordian, who spends "countless hours" on the paper, and according to presenter Morrell, "in his quiet fashion, makes his writers better," and his readers aware of issues.

Teaching Excellence

Diana Pedersen (History), who "expands the boundaries of her discipline and how it's taught."

Bryan Barbien (Marketing), who has "a passion for teaching, and shows such warmth and caring for students." He modestly accepted the award "for others not yet recognized."

Nickie Debiparshad (Economics), who excels at motivating his students.

Arlin Kipling (Physics), who was lauded by his Computer Science students for his "clear and well-organized lectures and his excellent lecture notes. He spends many hours in the lab, and he always makes students feel welcome." Kipling was thrilled with his first award in "many, many years of teaching." He added jokingly, "It's about time!"

Dan Othere (Economics), who "doesn't mind explaining over and over until you understand," said a student presenter. "He's also an advisor, and gave me the best advice I could ever take." Othere said he was touched not only for himself but for his colleagues, and then he was nearly swallowed up by a group of admiring students.

Thomas Waugh (Cinema), who "always asks the right questions, is witty, and makes it a pleasure to attend classes." Waugh, who also founded a popular program on sexuality, said that it was wonderful to hear such enthusiasm when "there's been so much chipping away at the academic infrastructure" by financial cuts.

Outstanding Contribution Awards, given to four undergraduate and two graduate students

Karl Colpitts, who captained the women's hockey team and still got "remarkable grades" in her Accounting program.

Suzanne Bate, an active volunteer and peer helper with Mother Hubbard's Cupboard, the Native Students Centre and the Women's Centre. "She's an excellent student," said presenter Daryl Lynn Ross, "and has such an ability to relate to each person."

Alan Clark, photographer for the yearbook, who extended himself far beyond that role. "I learned a lot of skills," Clark responded. He dedicated his award to high school yearbook co-editor who died last year.

Babak Torab, outgoing president of the Engineering and Computer Science Students Association, who "spent many weekends and part of the summer" on working to create "a strong, united graduate student body." Now he is starting a union for teaching assistants, and though he is graduating, will be around as a consultant. He dedicated his award to Professor Tadeusz Krepec, who died earlier this year.

Claude Jacob, who has started several literary groups and publications, including the successful Bard Literary Readings Series. He was also clubs coordinator for the CSU.

John Purkis, who has been recycling coordinator. As a graduate student in Commerce, he was unusual among CSU activists. Purkis said that as a person with dyslexia, he is especially grateful to Concordia's Office for Disabled Students, and he saluted the student volunteers of QPIRG for their dedication to good causes.

CORRIDORS

*For many of us, the hallways of Loyola and Sir George
Will be put to memory,
Far removed from the harsh realities of
The outside world, where there
Are no guarantees of success*

*Has university really prepared us?
Were the lectures, research papers and projects
Enough of a foundation for what lies ahead?*

*As we boldly step out into unknown territories,
May we fondly remember
Through all we will experience,
Both good and bad
The memories we share
As Concordia's proud
Class of '99.*

— Alan Clark

FOR THE Many, FROM ONE OF THE Few

3TC[®], our discovery for HIV/AIDS, makes BioChem Pharma one of the select few biopharmaceutical companies to see its research become a breakthrough product.

A breakthrough that's helping improve the quality of life for so many.

As always, we continue to focus our research and development efforts on unmet human health needs that medical science has yet to solve.

LIKE TODAY'S GRADUATES, WE'RE ON THE THRESHOLD OF GREAT ACHIEVEMENTS

*But unlike them,
we already have 150 years of practice*

We're Pfizer, a global company dedicated to discovering medicines to help people lead longer, healthier, and more productive lives. We've been in the discovery business since in 1849.

During the Second World War, our scientists were the first to develop a way to mass-produce the world's first wonder drug, penicillin. Since then, Pfizer medicines have contributed significantly to the revolution in healthcare of our modern age.

Our work continues. Today, on the threshold of a new millennium, the commitment to research of our 6,000 scientists around the world holds real hope of unlocking the mysteries of Alzheimer's disease, arthritis, cancer, and other illnesses. Pfizer is setting the pace with the worldwide launch of waves of innovative medicines while sales of our young, patent-protected products continue to grow.

And, perhaps, some of today's graduates will help us find the way.

We're part of the cure

Geneviève Jaimé Rodrigue, Bachelor of Commerce, major M.I.S.

«We are proud of your high grades and what you have already accomplished. We are sure that you will make a difference in this world.
Keep smiling and singing.
Congratulations! »

AEROSPACE

We Build Success

We build many of the world's most respected executive jets, regional airliners and specialized utility aircraft.

But above all we build success. For our customers.

Our people. Our shareholders. And our industry.

Bombardier Aerospace is the maker of the Canadair Regional Jet® and de Havilland Dash 8® turboprop airliners; Learjet®, the Canadair CL-415 turboprop amphibian; and Shorts fuselage, nacelle and defense systems. ®Registered

At last...

*It has been said that graduation isn't the end,
But just the beginning
Actually, it could be seen as both . . .*

*It is the end of a long road
That gives cause for celebration*

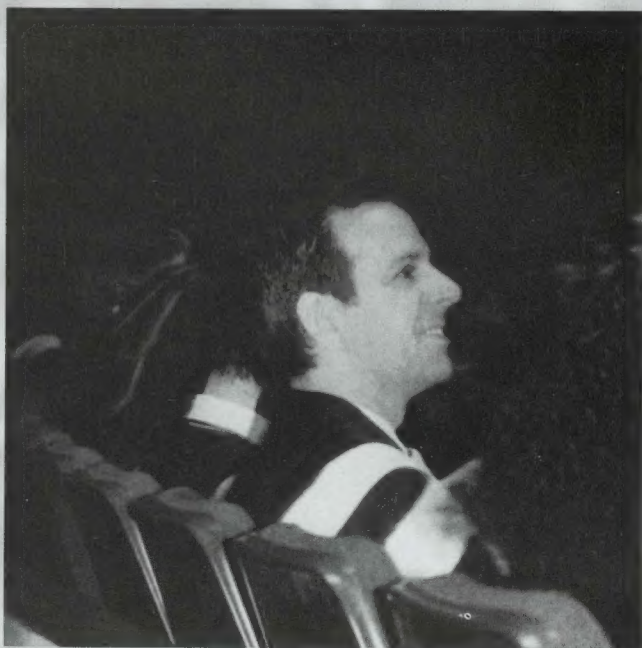

*As we eagerly wait
To take part in a moment we have strived for*

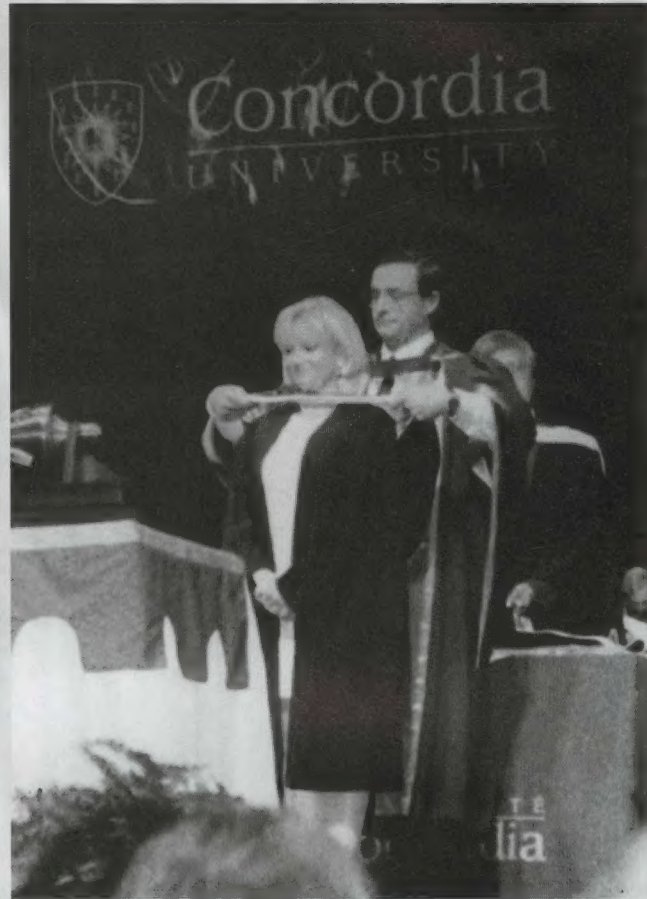

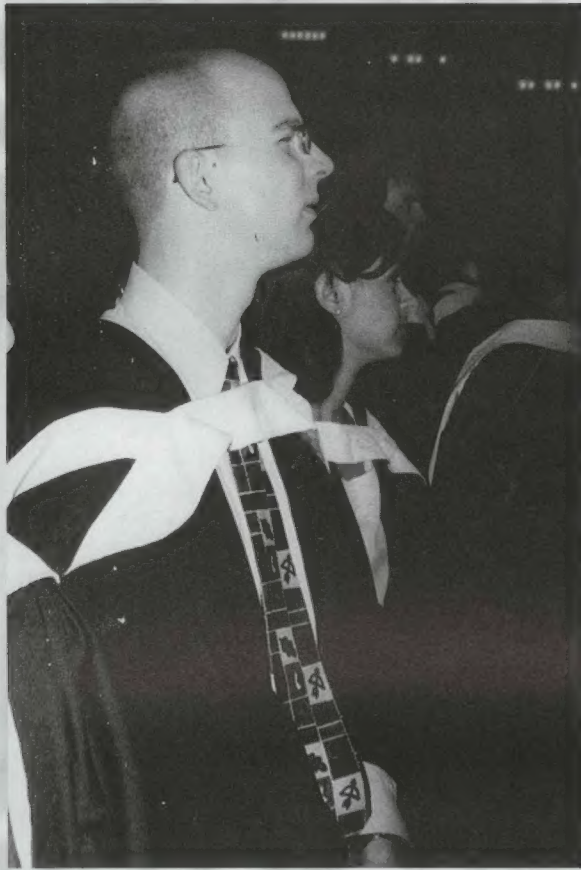

*We file into the auditorium with pride
And take our place among friends and fellow students*

*In an event that will remain with us
For a long time to come*

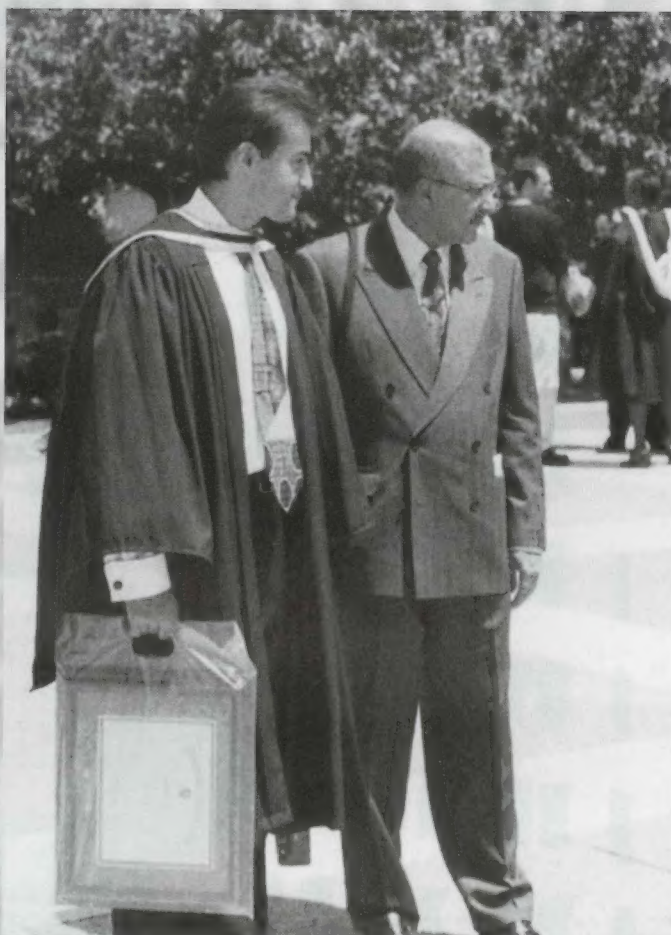

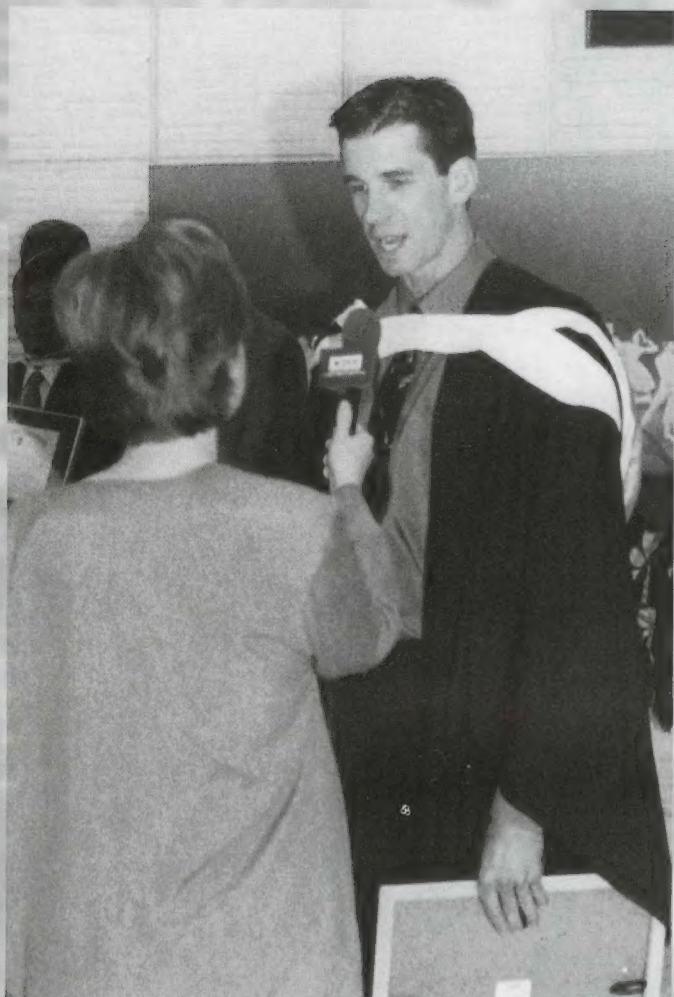

It is also a new beginning

As we pose for photos and mingle with family and friends

After the diplomas and awards have been given out

We feel as though we can achieve anything . . .

The future is ours!

Congratulations to all the Graduates of Fall 1998 and Spring 1999

Best Wishes for success and happiness in all your endeavours
